

Basalt is a material with a lifespan exceeding not only centuries, but millennia. It is a natural material that gets a new appearance and shape by melting and casting. Its excellent physical properties can be used in various areas, such as family homes, restaurants or offices.

Today, the attractive and unusual basalt tiles are used more and more in interiors and exteriors of civic amenities or business premises and service facilities. Basalt tiles look especially good in combination with other natural materials (wood, stonework, burnt bricks etc.).

The application of basalt products in the aforementioned areas is not only sought for the pleasant and exceptional look, but also for the long lifespan, successfully tested by the heaviest industrial operations.

Basalt pavement can also be used for floor heating as cast basalt tiles provide excellent heat conductivity and good accumulation.

Ostrovní Restaurant in Prague (250/250/22JRI)

Examples of Application:

- ◆ Hotels and receptions, restaurants, pubs, cafés, wine cellars, bars and gambling club, residential homes, rooms and halls, terraces and balconies
- ◆ Rock and style clubs, discotheques

Hotel Wellness (slip-resistant 200/200/30JR - Diana)

- ◆ Stores, shops, boutiques
- ◆ Exhibition halls and atria
- ◆ Car showrooms
- ◆ Historical and listed buildings
- ◆ Technical facilities, garages, cellars, warehouses and workshops
- ◆ Greenhouses, side-walks, areas around pools
- ◆ Outdoor and indoor fire-place tiling

Yacht Club Itálie (250/250/22JRI)